INTRODUCTION

Both employers and employees strive for one thing in common: wanting to be the best. The math is simple; the employers seek for the best talent pool and the employees want to belong to the best organisations. In order to achieve a synergetic relationship between the two parties, it is a prerequisite to acknowledge and meet the requirements and expectations of both sides.

This summary provides the results of the GRADUAN[®] Brand Awards Survey, which aims to identify the preferences of Malaysian talent on their ideal employers and industry. This survey is carried out annually during GRADUAN[®] ASPIRE, a networking fair that links the pool of talent to employers organised by GRADUAN[®], the country's leading career and employment resource. GRADUAN[®] has established itself as the most trusted career platform that connects thousands of prospective talent to potential employers. GRADUAN[®] has been at the forefront, linking both employers and talent under one roof via annual publications, websites and career fairs held locally and overseas including Australia and United Kingdom.

The GRADUAN[®] Brand Awards Survey Report 2016 presents an insight into the talent's preferences of organisations. More than 1,300 organisations were listed down by talent from various disciplines.

The findings from this survey indicate employer branding and employer visibility, which ultimately leads to the GRADUAN[®] Brand Awards.

A supplementary survey, the Employee Behaviour Survey, was conducted during the fair to identify the factors that influence employer selection as well as the attributes of organisations that deem worthy to the talent pool. These findings are valuable for organisations to formulate strategies on attracting, motivating and retaining talent.

GRADUAN[®] Brand Awards Survey Report is the most comprehensive resource for Malaysian organisations and their Human Resources departments on talent acquisition.

The independent survey was executed by GRADUAN[®] while the data analysis was conducted by Putra Business School.

THE PREMIER CAREER PLATFORM

FINDINGS & ANALYSIS -ADDITIONAL

EMPLOYEE BEHAVIOUR STUDY

SURVEY 2:

The survey intended to get a clear picture of how the respondents, in other words, potential employees select their employer of choice.

In 2016, Scope of Work (24.6%) appears to be the key reason for respondents to select their preferred employer, followed by Company Culture (18.35%) and Location of the Organisation (13.70%).

Respondents were asked on the average employment duration that they would stay in an organisation. The results showed 3-5 years (34.18%) and Above 5 years (31.51%). The results may imply that job hopping is not something that employees intend to do in the first place.

Reasons for Staying in an Organisation has shown a Positive Career Path was the number one reason (46.78%), followed by Passion for the Job (31.86%) and Monetary Benefits (17.03%). The findings suggest employee engagement should include non-monetary benefits as well. Employers can use targeted incentives and benefits to vastly improve employee happiness and engagement in most workplaces. Along with programs to reduce tension and poor management practices, incentives and benefits can be used to boost employee morale and engagement levels at work.

The methods often used by respondents in career search was through Career Fair (34.36%), Job Portals (25.78%) and Organisation's Corporate Website (20.46%).

Respondents were asked on which career sectors they are interested in, the results shown Engineering Sector (13.11%), Banking and Finance (12.47%) and Energy (11.43%). These results were consistent with the respondent demographic profile in terms of field of study in which 25.18% were from Business and Management, 22.66% were from Engineering and 13.25% were from Science.

According to the survey, Malaysia Airlines representatives were most welcoming during the career fair, followed by Maybank, Tesco, UEM Group, CCM and MMC Corporation.

Respondents said what attracted them most during the career fair was Friendly Company Representatives (41.15%), Opportunity in the Organisation (33.49%) and Employers' Branding (12.49%).

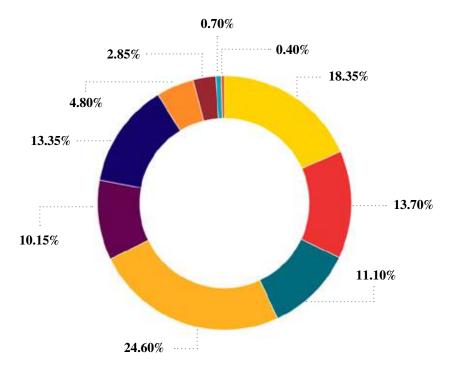

Malaysia Airlines had the most impressive booth in GRADUAN[®] ASPIRE 2016 voted by the respondents, followed by Maybank and Nestlé.

Results shown respondents got to know about GRADUAN[®] ASPIRE from Friends/Family (23.17%), Career Fairs (19.93%) and Social Network (19.02%).

The Land Public Transport Commission (SPAD) was established on 3rd June 2010, following the passing of the Suruhanjaya Pengangkutan Awam Darat Act 2010 by the Parliament in May 2010. The Commission gained its full authority on 31st January 2011 with the gazetting of the Land Public Transport Act 2010.

As the central authority for managing all aspects of public transport, the Commission which is directly under the purview of the Prime Minister is responsible for drawing up public transport policies, plans and regulations covering all aspects of land public transport.

SPAD's first and foremost responsibility is to the rakyat. Since its establishment, the Commission has injected a new impetus into public transport planning by introducing public transport master plans for both the country as well as for localised regions. The master plans comprehensively detail the Commission and Government's goals and vision for public transport, while at the same time specifying accompanying initiatives designed to raise the overall level of service and safety standards of public transport. This includes enforcement initiatives, which not only cover public transport operators, but also commercial vehicles on the road.

Following the enactment of Land Public Transport Act 2010, SPAD took over the functions of the Commercial Vehicle Licensing Board, Department of Railways and the tourism vehicles licensing function of the Ministry of Tourism in Peninsular Malaysia. At present, the Commercial Vehicle Licensing Board, Department of Railways and the Ministry of Tourism continue to exercise their role of authority in Sabah and Sarawak.
